Port Pilates is a Turkey-based international global brand. The registered trademark Port Pilates organizes Pilates trainings and manufactures premium quality Pilates equipment.

Port Pilates exports to many countries, especially in Europe, and always prioritizes customer satisfaction.

The production process is managed by expert engineers.

Since the products are intended for export, they are manufactured in accordance with international standards and quality. Wood and iron materials are processed by specialists using computerized and advanced equipment.

The solid wood used in the body is cut with CNC Technology, ensuring both durability and aesthetics.

To preserve the natural quality of the wood, wooden wedges are used instead of iron screws.

The locks and connection components are specially designed castings by Port Pilates.

From the smallest parts to the steel bolts of the wheels under the base, every material has been developed and put into use as a result of detailed R&D studies.

Reformer

Reformer Pilates is an exercise method developed by Joseph Pilates, performed on a specially designed spring-based apparatus that simultaneously improves muscle strength, flexibility, and balance.

This bed-like equipment consists of a sliding platform (carriage), foot bar, shoulder supports, springs, and straps. Thanks to the variable resistance provided by the springs, it can be used both for rehabilitation and advanced training.

The movements are performed in a controlled, slow manner and accompanied by breathing; this ensures correct muscle activation, protection of the spine, and improvement of posture.

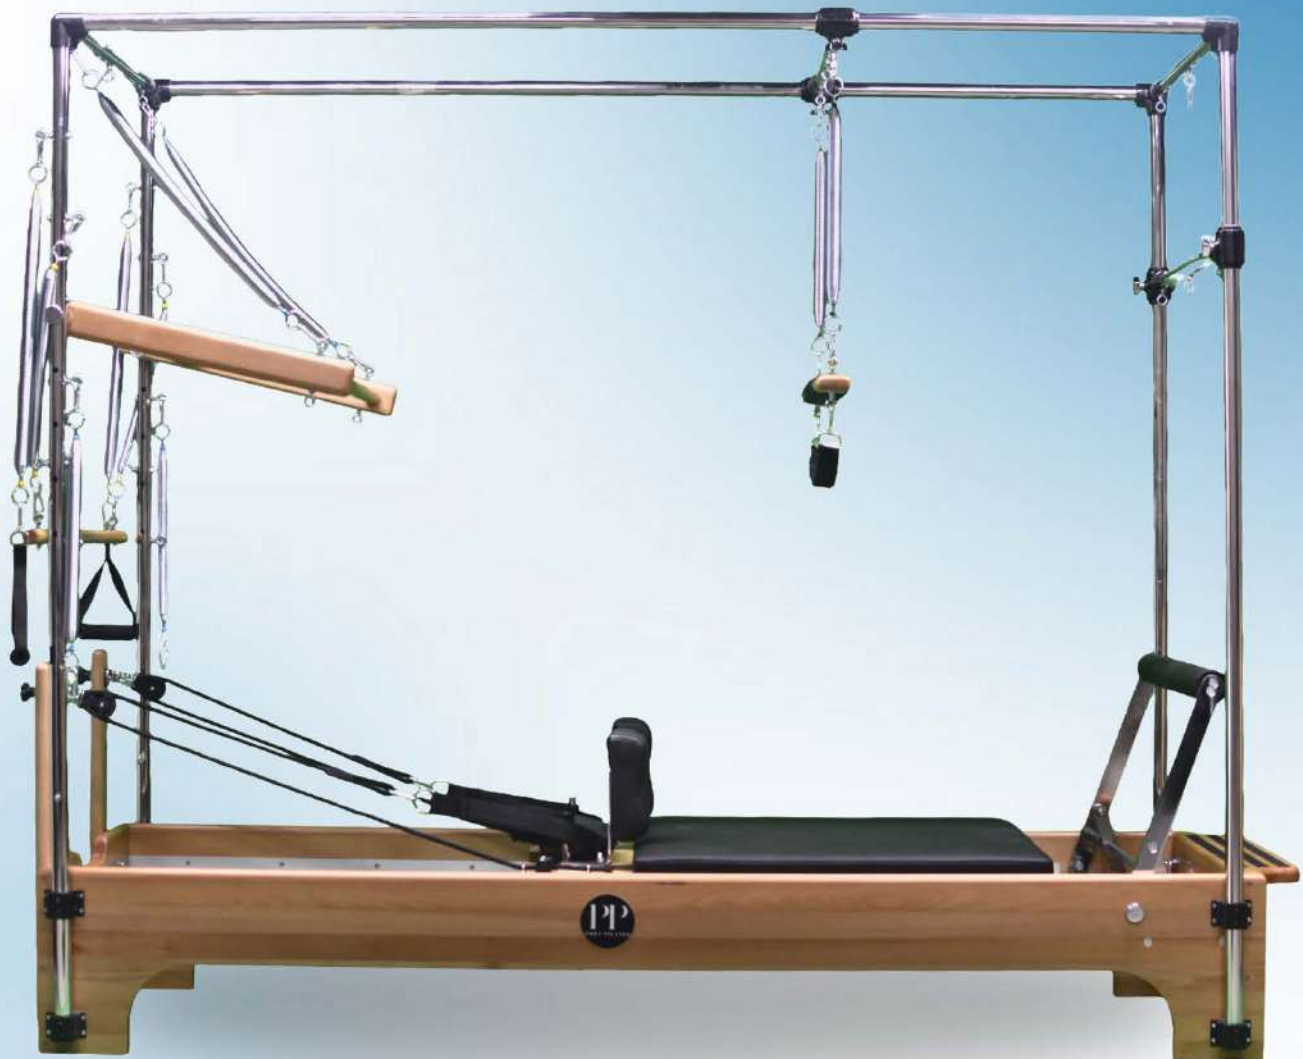

Reformer Pilates works the entire body in a balanced way, keeps the core muscles constantly engaged, increases body awareness, and strengthens the mind-body connection.
